We sell our unique inks, as well as hand-painted cards, postcards and whimsical wooden ornaments. Our most popular item is our postcard kit, which includes watercolour paper, a brush and our unique inks – this kit is perfect for taking on a trip, or as a gift for someone to remember this unique rural area. In addition to creating our inks, we also facilitate small workshops for individuals and groups who are curious and want to explore the inks in all their splendor with brush and paper. Attending markets has been a big part of our journey to reach out and connect with people. @dufferin_foraged_inks ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: Our workshops intend to open up new ideas and rekindle past interests that we may have put aside while pursuing daily obligations and commitments. Foraging links to natural health remedies, trying new recipes, all types of art and expression and connecting to the ancestors who lived much closer to the earth and depended on local resources. We were part of both the spring and fall Mulmur market in 2024 and had a blast. To ring in summer, we will also have a selection of small potted plants.
